O LIMITS:

huscums defi the Future

TERN MUSEUMS ASSOCIATION

MUSEUMS ALASKA

2008 Annual Meeting

September 17-21, 2008

Anchorage, Alaska

ONTENTS

General Information 2

Detailed Schedule

Wednesday 4 Thursday 6 Friday 11 Saturday 16

EEN INITIATIVE

Western Museums Association actively seeks to incorporate environmental tainability and green practices in its operations, programming and activities. With this ative, we hope inspire our members to institute similar methods in their own itutions.

nember this year we're rewarding you for bringing your own bag; come to the stration desk and show your old bag to be entered into a drawing for a Complete listration Package for the 2009 Annual Meeting in San Diego, California, Sunday ober 25 - Thursday October 29, 2009.

ycle - Making it easy! In the conference registration area you will find boxes for you to rn your plastic name-badge holder. We appreciate your efforts to help us minimize the duction and presence of plastic in our environment.

NO LIMITS:

Museums Define the Future

r Colleagues,

come to Anchorage, Alaska -- a land without limits. The largest and most rugged of our states, Alaska is known for ast wilderness landscape. The people who make the state their home have attitudes as unconstrained as their ironment. As diverse as the population of Alaska is, its residents have one thing in common: a spirit of individualist bends or breaks the rules that the rest of the country lives by. "We don't care how everyone else does it -- we'll down," is an often-heard refrain. We can learn a great deal from Alaska. As open minded as we would like to believe are, we museum professionals often surround ourselves with artificial rules and limits that stifle the potential and sibilities of our institutions. What rules have we imposed on our collections and exhibits? What regulates our stutional mission? What limits are there on our very definition of what a museum is? In an ever changing society, seems must undergo evolution to remain relevant. But change is often stifled by the artificial limitations of our seem traditions.

with great pleasure that we welcome you to the joint conference of the Western Museums Association and seums Alaska. When we last met in Anchorage, in 1998, we had an exciting visit, a landmark gathering during while learned much from each other. Change has been constant in the intervening decade. We have many new museum hare with you and many new members of both organizations with whom to network. Both of us, as new directors, a looking forward to meeting each of you in person.

hope that you have planned to partake of some of the unique adventures and sightseeing before or after the etings. Several of you are taking advantage of the interesting and exciting things to do for significant others and illes before, during, and after the meetings. We hope that you enjoy your time in Anchorage and go home having

John Lewis, Executive Director Museums Alaska

Elida Zelaya, Interim Executive Director Western Museums Association

PROGRAM COMMITTEE CO-CHAIRS

ona Jonaitis cutive Director, Retired rersity of Alaska Museum of the North Kurt Zwolfer Education Specialist
Idaho State Historical Society

HOST COMMITTEE CO-CHAIRS

Wolf seumomentum Norm Legasse Executive Director Alaska Aviation Heritage Muse

WESTERN MUSEUMS ASSOCIATION STAFF
Valerie Huaco
Publication and Media Manager

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The following individuals have been instrumental in the planning, development and support of this onference. Thank you to all for the generous gifts of time and resources toward our 2008 annual meeting

PROGRAM COMMITTEE

ona Jonaitis, Co-Chair cutive Director, Retired, versity of Alaska Museum of the th

t Zwolfer, Co-Chair cation Specialist, Idaho State orical Society

mond Barnett, Head of Exhibits, shington State Historical Society

alind Bedell, Human Resources olunteer Manager, Nevada seum of Art

Brennan, Director of Facilities, Francisco Museum of Modem

ta Brunschwyler, Vice President lience Development, High Desert ure Museum

anie Fales, Deputy Director, se Art Museum

Frye, Chief Curator Emeritus, cland Museum

ma Gurba Director/Curator, City ancaster Museum/Art Gallery

Alexandra Harris, Publications Editor, Smithsonian Institution National Museum of the American Indian

Steve Henricksen Curator of Collections, Alaska State Museum

Elaine Hughes, Collections Manager, Museum of Northern Arizona

Vallejo Naval & Historical Museum

Angela Linn, Ethnology Collections

Manager, University of Alaska

James Kern, Executive Director,

Museum of the North

Wendy Meluch, Evaluation
Consultant, Visitor Studies Services

Mike Nelson, Executive Director, Anasazi State Park Museum

Ed Prohaska, Chief Financial Officer, Monterey Bay Aquarium

Irene Rodriguez, Associate Director of Education, Palm Springs Art Museum

Yvonne Sharpe, Operations Manager, Craigdarroch Castle

HOST COMMITTEE

Pat Wolf, Co-Chair Museumomentum

Norm Lagasse, Co-Chair Executive Director, Alaska Aviatior Heritage Museum

Adam Baldwin, Visitor Services Manager, Anchorage Museum at Rasmuson Center

Artemis Bona Dea, Museum Curator/Manager, Alaska Heritage Museum at Wells Fargo

Eleanor Haddin, Assistant Curator Collections and Exhibits, Alaska Native Heritage Center

Marilyn Knapp, Chief Curator/Histor Research Curator, Anchorage Museum at Rasmuson Center

Aaron Leggett, Dena'ina Cultural Historian, Alaska Native Heritage Center

Donna Matthews, Anchorage Museum

Dave Morgan, Curator, Alaska Aviation Heritage Museum

Suzi Jones, Deputy Director, Programs, Anchorage Museum at Rasmuson Center

Monica Shah, Conservator, Anchorage Museum at Rasmuson Center

WMA BOARD OF DIRECTORS

David Porter, President
William Harris, Vice President, Membership
Greta Brunschwyler, Vice President, Annual Meeting
Yvonne Sharpe, Secretary
Julie Stein, Finance/Development
Stacy Lieberman, Communications Chair
Bruce Eldredge, Governance Chair
Sarah Kennington, Awards/Publications Chair

Lisa Anderson
Midge Bowman
Joe Brennan
Ted Greenberg
Michael Hammond

Cheryl Hinton Aldona Jonaitis Roger Lidman Mike Nelson Jody Ochoa

cial thanks to Melissa Rosengard for her continuing support.

STAFF

Elida Zelaya, Interim Executive Director, Western Museums Association

Valerie Huaco, Media and Publications Manager, Western Museums Association

John Lewis, Executive Director, Museums Alaska

Thank you Bronze Sponsors

Lexington

Western Center for the Conservation of Fine Art

Museums Alaska thanks Wells Fargo and ConocoPhillips for their support

NERAL INFORMATION

A REGISTRATION DESK

gates should pick up their badges and final program at the registration desk located outside the Alaska Ballroom. Registration n during the following hours beginning September 17: Wednesday 11:30 am - 5:00 pm; Thursday 8:30 am - 5:00 pm; Friday 8: ; Saturday 8:30 - 11:00 am.

IBIT HALL: The exhibit hall is located in the Alaska/Denali rooms. Opening Reception, Wednesday 4:45 pm - 6:00 pm; Thurso 5 am - 12:15 pm/1:45 pm - 4:30 pm; Friday 10:00 am - 2:30 pm (Closing Reception and Silent Auction, Friday 1:00 pm -2:30 pm

KET EXCHANGE

ets for evening events and meals will be given to you with your badge. When you receive your program and badge, please ch tickets. There are no refunds on events. To sell a ticket to another delegate, come to the registration desk for an individual loc ges must be worn for admission to all conference events including sessions, the exhibit hall, meals, and evening events. We eciate your understanding that our volunteers are trained to deny access to any delegate not wearing a badge. Conference ges are not transferable.

GES

SION ROOM LOCATIONS

or plan is included in all registration bags. The final program lists the room assigned to each session and event. Registration i Alaska Ballroom foyer; the Alaska Ballroom will hold the Exhibit Hall (Alaska/Denali Rooms) an dthe General Session (Aleutiar phones must be on silent during presentations. Please refrain from wearing strongly scented products to meetings for the con I delegates.

FUMES / CELL PHONES

ENT AUCTION

egates may drop off donations for the silent auction at the registration desk. Bidding on silent auction items closes at 2:15 pm of ay at the Exhibit Hall Closing Reception.

SAGE BOARD

egates may post messages, job opportunities and exchange tickets on a message board located in the Exhibit Hall. There is no ge for this service, however we ask that you be mindful of the limitations on space to accommodate all posters. Commercial a not allowed on the board, nor is material of a commercial nature on tables unless arranged in advance with the WMA.

IEDULE

sions identified by 101 are particularly relevant to new professionals and museum staff who need basic training, or those who to refresh their skills.

ICELLATIONS AND REFUNDS

r September 1, WMA guarantees events with payments to vendors, and for this reason, no refunds will be given for any reasor cancellations received by the WMA office after September 1. WMA is not responsible for notifications sent and not received.

Unlimited Possibilities!

Lexington's design, development and fabrication expertise were essential to two outstanding GREEN projects this year: the multi-award winning Noah's Ark at the Skirball Cultural Center and the LEED-certified Roseville Utility Exploration Center.

Garbage Pile interactive exhibit

Lexington offers proven, award-winning, environmentally sensible exhibit creation. We are your full-service design/build partner for:

• Design Guidance • Technical Expertise • Custom Fabrication

12660 Branford St. | Los Angeles, CA 91331 phone: 818.768.5768 | www.lex-usa.com

September 1

ANNUAL MEETING REGISTRATION OF

Hilton Anchorage, Alaska Ballroom f 11:30 am - 5:00

PRECONFERENCE WORKSHOPS

registration required. An additional surcharge of $50 will be charged to preconference workshop attendees not registered for t ual meeting.

1 Do It Your Way - In-House Exhibit Development and Renovation onsored by the National Association for Museum Exhibition am - 4:00 pm; Opportunity to lunch as a group. Location: Anchorage Museum eloping/renovating exhibits seems to require limitless talent and funding, but many projects can be done well with in-house staresources. And it can be fun! Workshop participants will use real exhibits at the Anchorage Museum to engage in minds-on, ds-on activities that address every aspect of exhibit development: envisioning new exhibits, addressing interpretation, managing or project, fielding community input, incorporating evaluation techniques, designing, and fabricating. Join us for an engaging day utiful institution where you can get the tools you need to do it your way! Moderator: Wendy Meluch, Evaluation Consultant, Vising Services; Presenters: Marilyn Knapp, Curator of History, Anchorage Museum; Alice Parman, Museum Consultant/Organizator, Megg Sohn Designs.

2 Demystifying Accreditation

nsored by American Association of Museums and Alaska State Museums am - 4:00 pm; Lunch break, lunch not provided. Location: Anchorage Hilton, King Salmon Room, 2nd floor creditation is a goal for your museum, this workshop will take you one step closer. Through presentations and hands-on exercively experience approaches for each step in the process, from preparation through the final decision, with an emphasis on the study; the accreditation standards in plain English and how they apply to your museum; and, how museums of all sizes and ans can pursue accreditation. Moderator: Julie C. Hart, Assistant Director, Accreditation, American Association of Museums; about Merritt, Director, Museum Advancement & Excellence, American Association of Museums; Scott A. Carrlee, Curator of eum Services, Alaska State Museum; Angela J. Linn, Ethnology Collections Manager, University of Alaska Museum of the Norther Beggs, Executive Director, Pratt Museum.

3 Fundraising for Conservation Projects am - 4:00 pm; Lunch provided. Location: Anchorage Hilton, Dillingham Room, 2nd floor icipants will learn how to select and make the best arguments for funds to implement an institution's conservation project. The also learn how to research funding sources, approach foundations and government agencies, and fulfill grant-maker requirement expectations. The basic elements of a successful proposal will be presented in detail, with case studies of successfully funded ects. A limited number of individual consultations will be available free of charge during the afternoon for registered workshop cipants. Moderator: Maria McWilliams, R.C.W.R. Alaska State Representative/Registrar, Anchorage Museum at Rasmuson ter.

4 Working Group Meeting for State Museum Associations

am - 4:00 pm; Lunch on your own. Location: Anchorage Hilton, Katmai Room, 2nd floor registrations required. Open to state museum association representatives. Don't miss this opportunity to discuss current issue t projects and services that you provide for your members, and to plan for the future year. Facilitator: MJ Koreiva, Board of ctors & Marketing Committee, Oregon Museums Association

PRECONFERENCE EXCURSIONS

registration required.

Portage Excursion

pm - 5:00 pm; Motorcoaches depart from the 3rd Street entrance to the Hilton Anchorage.

e a ride down the Seward Highway along scenic Turnagain Arm with a final destination of the Begich-Boggs Visitor Center locate the West end of Portage Lake. Surrounded by the Chugach National Forest, America's second largest national forest, you have ess to six different hikes and opportunities for viewing majestic mountains, embedded glaciers and Alaskan wildlife.

cdncsday

Eagle River Nature Center

pm - 5:00 pm; Motorcoaches depart from the 3rd Street entrance to the Hilton Anchorage.

ort 45 minute bus ride delivers you to the Eagle River Nature Center, gateway to the Chugach State Park. Join one of the ter's naturalists to see a bit of wild Alaska as s/he leads you on the handicap accessible trail through the birch forest to the East viewing platform. The mountain views are spectacular and September is a prime time to see spawning salmon.

The Native Village of Eklutna

pm - 5:00 pm; Motorcoaches depart from the 3rd Street entrance to the Hilton Anchorage.

ated 26 miles from downtown Anchorage, the Native Village of Eklutna is home to the oldest building in Anchorage, the Eklutna ch. The church and cemetery at Eklutna date to the late 19th Century. The inhabits of the Native Village of Eklutna are part of a ina Athabascan tribe that have occupied Cook Inlet for well over a thousand years. Prior to the Dena'ina adopting Russian odoxy, they cremated their dead. Under the growing influence of church law, villagers started to bury the dead and erect "spirit ses" over the graves. These "spirit houses" were painted according to a person's matrilineal clan. In addition, a person's prized sessions were put in the spirit house to provide comfort for the journey to the afterlife. Join Aaron Leggett, a member of the Nage of Eklutna and local historian, as he explains the significance of Dena'ina places throughout the Anchorage Bowl, gives a ed tour of the cemetery, and explains the true meaning of these spirit houses and the recent efforts that are underway to give overdue recognition to Anchorage's indigenous inhabitants.

EXHIBIT HALL OPENING RECEPTION

pm - 6:00 pm Alaska/Denali Rooms.

n to all registered delegates; included in basic registration. Begin your Anchorage networking! Meet corporate partners and an assure and your colleagues over hosted hors d'oeuvres and beverages.

courtesy Aviation Heritage Museum

Evening Even

Preregistration

EE1 AVIATION HERITAGE MUSEUM WEDNESDAY SEPTEMBE

6:30 pm - 9:30 pm Motorcoaches depart from the 3rd Street entrance to the Anchorage. The evening includes buffet meal and a drink ticket; cash bar also available.

Swing to the sounds of the Big Bands and into the past as Alaska celebrates the Anniversary of the end of the WWII Aleutian Campaign. Enjoy some Alaskan BBQ the Sourdough Mining Company while you're surrounded by vintage aircraft and pe rehicles to get you "In The Mood" for the combined Western Museums Association and Museums Alaska Conference. Spend so time networking with your fellow attendees as you take a "Sentimental Journey" through the Alaska Bush Pilot and Aircraft exhauted enjoy the new Alaska Military Aviation Expeditions and Aleutian Campaign exhibits at the Aviation Museum. If artifact restoration flavor the aircraft restoration facility will be open for ogling the latest restoration projects and chatting with the volunteers, those that enjoy watching floatplane activities you can picnic along the South shore of Lake Hood and enjoy what the buse seaplane port in the world has to describe the seaplane port in the world has to describe the seaplane port in the world has to describe the seaplane port in the world has to describe the seaplane port in the world has to describe the seaplane port in the world has to describe the seaplane port in the world has to describe the seaplane port in the world has to describe the seaplane port in the world has to describe the seaplane port in the world has to describe the seaplane port in the world has to describe the seaplane port in the world has to describe the seaplane port in the world has to describe the seaplane port in the world has to describe the seaplane port in the world has to describe the seaplane port in the world has to describe the seaplane port in the world has to describe the seaplane port in the world has to describe the seaplane port in the world has to describe the seaplane port in the world has to describe the seaplane port in the world has to describe the seaplane port in the world has to describe the seaplane port in the world has to describe the seaplane port in the world has to describe the seaplane port in the world has to describe the seaplane port in the world has to describe the seaplane port in the world has to describe the seaplane port in the world has to describe the seaplane port in the world has to describe the seaplane port in the world has to describe the sea

hursday

September 18

ANNUAL MEETING REGISTRATION OF

Hilton Anchorage, Alaska Ballroom f 8:30 am - 5:00

EXHIBIT HALL OF

10:15 am - 12:15 1:45 pm - 4:30

OPENING GENERAL SESSION

) am - 10:30 am; Aleutian Room

nual Meeting Welcome - David Porter, President, Board of Directors, Western Museums Association and Executive Directors, Western Museums Association and Meeting Museums Association a chorage Welcome - Pat Wolf, Museumomentum, and Norm Lagasse, Executive Director, Alaska Aviation Heritage Museum, t Committee Co-Chairs

est Speaker Carl R. Nold, Chair, American Association of Museums Board, and President, Society for the Preservation of No land Antiquities.

ards - Bruce Eldridge, Executive Director, Buffalo Bill Historical Center, WMA Board member, will present the following awards

Charles Redd Center Western Museums Association Award for Exhibition Excellence: The Agua Caliente

tural Museum Cahuilla Cowboys - Making Our Marks. Accepting the award: Dawn man, Assistant Curator, and Michael Hammond, Executive Director.

ector's Chair Award - Sarah Kennington, Registrar, Fowler Museum at UCLA. Sarah nington served as the chief registrar for the Fowler Museum at UCLA from 1982 - 2008. essional service has included positions on the executive boards of the Western Museums ociation, the California Association of Museums, ArtTable, and the Registrars Committee – stern Region; as well as the Advisory Committee of the Museum Loan Network and sultations with the City of Los Angeles Cultural Affairs Department, the County Museum of ural History, Los Angeles, and the California Association of Museums.

Keynote Speaker - James Pepper Henry is a member of the Kaw Nation of Oklahoma and Muscogee Creek Nation. He is the director and CEO of the Anchorage Museum at Rasmuson Center, and CEO of the Anchorage Museums Association. He was previously Associate Director for Community and Constituent Services at the Smithsonian's National Museum of the American Indian.

Pepper Henry has been active in Native American repatriation efforts for the Kaw Nation as director of the tribe's Kanza Museum, tribal Historic Preservation Officer, and as the former Repatriation Program Manager for the National Museum of the American Indian. He has work to promote Native American art, culture, and heritage as curator at the Institute of Alaska Native Arts in Fairbanks, Alaska, Interstate Fire House Cultural Center in Portland, Oregon, and as interim curator of American Indian Art at the Portland Art Museum.

EXHIBIT HALL BREAK

30 am - 11:15 am; Alaska/Denali Rooms

se come to the exhibit hall to continue discussions with our corporate members, view auction items (or to plan your bidding egy!), chill with your colleagues, and partake of light refreshments.

A 101: An Introduction for Conference Newcomers

30 am - 11:00 am; Aleutian Room

the WMA staff, board members and other delegates to learn about ways to participate in WMA, such as proposing a topic sion for next year, writing an article for the newsletter, and making the most of all the ways to network! Chair: Erin Black, Curato as County Museum, WA.

kursday

CONCURRENT SESSIONS

5 am - 12:45 pm

Alternative Spaces for Programs and Marketing in Second Life and Other Virtual Worlds Dillingham Room, 2nd Floor

session is an introduction to virtual worlds like Google's Lively, Active Worlds, and Second Life (SL) that together boast million bline users. These serious and playful spaces attract a highly diverse, international demographic including artists, programmer ble with disabilities, educators, builders, and others. The library and university fields are far ahead of museums in taking antage of this technology for serious educational and marketing applications. Using SL as a primary example, this session is a poration of a few creative museum and heritage sites and the opportunities therein to expand boundaries outside a real world lity. Session participants with SL avatars are encouraged to bring laptops and log on during the session for an "in world" erience. Moderator: Springs Coronet, Founder, West Museums Rock; Presenters: Patio Plasma, Project Director - Destination is, Exploratorium; Johnnie Mohr, SL Artist & Architect.

Community Relevance: Museums Reaching New Audiences, Katmai Room, 2nd Floor extensive experience in breaking traditional museum boundaries and promoting institutional change, the panel will address at a discussion on various methods of providing relevant experiences for today's diverse audiences. Discussion topics will include to voices on the relevancy of today's museums; models for drawing and retaining new audiences while remaining true to the tutional mission; and, strategies for working within institutional context towards strategic change as it relates to audience. erator: Leah Melber, Assistant Professor, Museum Education Consultant, California State University, Los Angeles; Presenters: an K. Lafferty, Nadine and Robert A. Skotheim Director of Education, The Huntington Library, Art Collections and Botanical dens; Deland Anderson, Humanities Scholar, The Pratt Museum; Linda Abraham-Silver, President and Executive Director, Greens Science Center.

Curating Sacred Objects: Some Thoughts from Alaska King Salmon Room, 2nd Floor ural centers and museums in Alaska care for Native and Russian Orthodox sacred objects. In keeping with the special nature e objects, the institutions, in partnership with tribes and spiritual leaders, have developed innovative procedures governing age and handling, display, and ceremonial access. This presentation will highlight examples from Kodiak's Alutiiq Museum, Sitl onal Historical Park, and the Alaska State Museum in Juneau. Moderator: Steve Henrikson, Curator of Collections, Alaska State eum; Sue Thorsen, Curator, Sitka National Historical Park, National Park Service; Sven D. Haakanson, Jr., Executive Director, iq Museum and Archaeological Repository.

Research Centers within Museums - Reaching Beyond Traditional Limits Iliamna Room, 2nd Floor

ional and university museums abound in North America. How can they be distinctive and stand out from the crowd? One way te a research center in a specific area related to the museum's discipline thereby bringing national recognition to both the centhe museum. In this session museums describe the catalyst for such a center, how it has progressed and become known, and academic and financial implications. Moderator: Rosalind Bedell, Human Resources and Volunteer Manager, Nevada Museum Presenters: Carolyn Brucken, Deputy Director, Institute for the Study of the American West/ Assistant Curator for Western nen's History, Autry National Center; Christine Conte, Director, Center for Sonoran Desert Studies, Arizona-Sonora Desert eum; Michael W. Hager, President & CEO, San Diego Natural History Museum.

Making A Good Impression - Measuring Outstanding Customer Service and Library Services Lupine Room, Lobby Level

standing customer service is critical to a museum's success, giveing it an edge over other tourist attractions or leisure facilities compete for the public's time, attention and money. We'll provide you with tools, strategies, and new ideas for successfully oving customer service - from front-line greeters to the challenge of dealing with antagonistic visitors. Moderator: Norma Gurb red Director/Curator, City of Lancaster Museum/Art Gallery; Presenters: Katch Bacheller, Executive Director, Alaska Museum our History; Stephanie Weaver, Visitor Experience Consultant, Experienceology.

AFFINITY GROUP LUNCHES

I5 pm - 1:55 pm preregistration required

Native American Luncheon Spruce Room, Lobby Level

Development & Membership, Public Relations & Marketing Luncheon Chart Room, 15th Floor sentation by Dawn Wellman, 2008 recipient of the WMA /Charles Redd Award for Exhibition Excellence for Cahuilla Cowboys aing Our Marks at The Agua Caliente Cultural Museum

CONCURRENT SESSIONS

) pm - 3:30 pm

Mess Around: Come Play! Dillingham Room, 2nd Floor

ne play! Artists experiment with images and materials to communicate through their artwork. This hands-on session is an ortunity for you to place yourself in the role of the artist. Take away an educational and artistic product. No experience necessablessure and no judging. If you miss the session, go to the exhibit hall where the materials will be available for your hands-on erator: Melanie Fales, Curator of Education, Boise Art Museum; Presenter: Terra Feast, Associate Curator of Education, Boise eum.

Funding Collections Care Into the Future Katmai Room, 2nd Floor

session will demonstrate that fund raising for collections care need not be a drain on an institution's resources; rather it is an ortunity to attract new support and the interest of donors, funding agencies, and the public. Participants will learn about necting to Collections, a national initiative launch by the IMLS, hear case studies from peers, and get tips on researching fund elements of a successful proposal from a seasoned development professional. Moderator: Kara West, Assistant Director for Frices, Balboa Art Conservation Center; Presenters: Marsha Semmel, Deputy Director for Museums, Institute of Museums and ary Services; Sandra Narva, Senior Program Officer, Institute of Museums and Library Services; Hal Fischer, Development Office Art Conservation Center; Katie Oliver, Director, Baranov Museum/Kodiak Historical Society; Kathryn Hurtley, Executive ctor, Valdez Museum and Historical Archive.

The Performance Management Program: A National Visitor Survey from AASLH King Salm Room, 2nd Floor

r how twelve museums across Alaska defined their future using the American Association for State and Local History's ormance Management program. Performance Management helps institutions measure visitor satisfaction and opinions through a standardized survey. Speakers will present an overview of the Performance Management program, tips on how to develop fund a Managed Group in your own state, and fascinating examples from the Alaskan Survey results. Moderator: Scott Carrlet ator of Museum Services, Alaska State Museums; Presenters: Cherie Cook, Project Director, American Association for State and History; Debora Wilcox, Director of Evaluations, Center for Nonprofit Management.

Stronger Together - The Development of a Community Museum Iliamna Room, 2nd Floor case study will emphasize the strengths and challenges of community partnerships from fundraising to project completion. The Thompson Cultural and Visitors Center in Fairbanks, Alaska incorporated the needs of three partners and the community ugh an integrated design process. The Tanana Chiefs Conference, Alaska Public Lands Information Center, and the Fairbanks vention and Visitors Bureau worked together to create a center that is the gateway to interior Alaska, representing the diverse ple that live there. Moderator: Bianca Message, President, André & Associates Interpretation & Design Ltd.; Presenters: Cindy umaker, Project Director, Morris Thompson Cultural and Visitor's Center; Charles Bettisworth, Bettisworth North; Dixie Alexand ural Exhibit Development, Athabascan Designs.

Museums and Blogs, Podcasting, and YouTube: Part 1 The What & Uses Lupine Room, Lobb Level museum is "live" - now what? In this first part of the double session, find out how you can utilize your website more effectively elists will discuss what type of technology they use and how it enhances their programs. Attendees will gain an understanding ging, podcasting, YouTube and flicker and how these technologies can tap the potential of the 21st century. Moderator: Irene ríguez, Associate Director of Education, Palm Springs Art Museum; Presenters: David Porter, Executive Director, Clackamas tage Partners; Emily Spallina, Education Program Manager, Palm Springs Art Museum; Humberto Kam, Senior Manager of Ornmunications, Monterey Bay Aquarium.

EXHIBIT HALL BREAK

pm - 4:00 pm Alaska/Denali Rooms

eam! You scream! We all scream for ice cream! Come to the exhibit hall for cool conversation, visit our vendor booths, and en y treats.

CONCURRENT SESSIONS

) pm - 5:30 pm

Stories Without Limits: The History of a Small Community Dillingham Room, 2nd Floor small community, history often resides only in memory and anecdotes. In recording the community history for the first time, tors and historians attempt to corroborate dates, uncover meaningful events, and unite common experiences. Reluctant oral bry participants must be convinced that "Your story is the community history." Museum curators and historians discuss

rursday

oaches, successes, and missteps in the inaugural recording of a small community's history. Moderator: Samantha Kimpel, ator, Novato History Museum; Presenters: Cheryl Hinton, Director/Chief Curator, Barona Cultural Center and Museum; Elaine ers, Director, Ak-Chin Him-Dak EcoMuseum and Archives.

Behind-the-Scenes Tours and Beyond Katmai Room, 2nd Floor

ess to museum collections behind-the-scenes is often limited to major donors, scholars, and fellow museum professionals. Thi sion examines innovative approaches which redefine the conventional boundaries between public areas and off-limits collection age. Participants will learn about benefits reaped by three institutions after expanding access to collections, including increase ing for collections projects, enhanced public engagement, and opportunities for in-depth programming. Panelists will share tical and philosophical issues encountered and candidly discuss what worked and what didn't. Moderator: Angela Linn, ections Manager, Ethnology & History, University of Alaska Museum of the North; Presenters: Elaine Hughes, Collections ager, Museum of Northern Arizona; Paul Smutko, Senior Collections Manager, Museum of International Folk Art; Juliet kinridge Pool, Aquarium Adventures, Assistant Manager, Monterey Bay Aquarium.

Define Your Future with IMLS Grant Opportunities King Salmon Room, 2nd Floor session will open with an overview of IMLS grant opportunities. Panelists from the Alaska State Museum and Hoonah Indian ociation will discuss the application process; the projects for which they have received IMLS funding; and their experiences ing as IMLS field and panel reviewers. This presentation will appeal to museum professionals and staff in a variety of museum have responsibility for or are interested in obtaining grants. Ample time will be provided for Q&A. Moderator: Marsha Semmel uty Director for Museum Services/Director for Strategic Partnerships, Institute of Museum and Library Services; Presenters: M. ı Moss, Tribal Curator, Hoonah Indian Association; Roger Lidman, Executive Director, Pueblo Grande Museum.

Listening Session: Your Chance to Shape AAM's Future Iliamna Room, 2nd Floor

ajor part of AAM's role as the national association representing museums of all types and sizes is to benefit the museum field le, not just individual museums or just AAM members. Come for updates on AAM's activities like the new Center for the Future eum and Museum Advocacy Day and stay to tell us how what AAM can do for you. Helping the field to develop and promulga dards, wrestling with current ethics issues, engaging in advocacy regarding funding and policy, and promoting diversity and ership at all levels are all things that affect every museum in the country. This is your opportunity to give input as we move ard, particularly on issues that affect museums in the west. Is what we are doing appropriate and effective? Are there needs y are unmet that we ought to address? Join us for this moderated discussion, learn what's new, and help shape AAM's future. erator: Julie Hart, Senior Director, Museum Standards & Excellence, American Association of Museums; Jill Connors-Joyner, stant Director, Museum Assessment Program, AAM; Gail Ravnitzky Silberglied, Director of Government Relations, AAM; Carl I I, Chair of the AAM Board.

Museums and Blogs, Podcasting, and YouTube: Part 2 Create Your Own Script Lupine Room Lobby Level

it are the steps needed upload a podcast on your website? In this very hands-on session, you will "research," script, read, rec hear your potential podcast. Bring current information and in-house research to use for your podcast. Moderator: Irene N. ríguez, Association of Education, Palm Springs Art Museum; Presenters: David Porter, Executive Director, Clackamas Heritage ners; Emily Spallina, Education Program Manager, Palm Springs Art Museum.

Evening Event

ANCHORAGE MUSEUM at Rasmuson CENTER

THURSDAY 9/18

mq 08:9 - mg

don't miss the Museum Shop!

proaches depart from the 3rd Street entrance to the Hilton Anchorage. Anchorage Museum at Rasmuson Center is undergoing a major expansion, adding rams and 70,000 square feet to the current structure. Despite life in the "construction zone" Museum continues to offer a full range of exhibits and programs including ngnaqpiallerput (The Way We Genuinely Live): Masterworks of Yup'ik Science, an exhibition th will be spotlighted in the annual Exhibit Critique (Session I1). Yup'ik dancers will perform, demonstrations will be held, and members of the Yup'ik steering committee will guide ors through the exhibition. The Yup'ik science exhibition was in planning for more than five s and includes objects from twelve U.S. museums and the Ethnologisches Museum of in. Curator for the exhibition is Dr. Ann Fienup-Riordan. We will also see the Museum's ka History Gallery, the Children's Gallery, the Art of the North Gallery and a special exhibit uring work by visiting artist Michael Joo of New York City. In addition, the Museum's Library Archives, which houses 400,000 historic photographs of Alaska and the North will be open.

ANNUAL MEETING REGISTRATION OF

Hilton Anchorage, Alaska Ballroom f 8:30 am - 4:30

EXHIBIT HALL OF

10:00 am - 2:30

CONCURRENT SESSIONS

am - 10:30 am

Creating Open-Ended Exhibits + Real World Experiences Dillingham Room, 2nd Floor ating open-ended exhibits that allow for play and exploration with the real world is always a challenge in our goal-focused tutions. How can we allow visitors to interact with paint, sand, soapy water, microscopes, and horse saddles in a constructive ? We'll review some innovative projects and talk about how open-ended exploration requires us to relinquish control over our ors and change our institutions' mindset. What makes this type of exhibit successful and how do we measure it? Moderator: han Lee, Senior Exhibit Designer, Quatrefoil Associates; Presenters: Devon Hamilton, Senior Scientist, Physics Content rdinator, Agents of Change Initiative, Ontario Science Centre; Stephanie Lile, Head of Education, Washington State Historical al networking and the role of the Internet in museum marketing and outreach is currently the focus of many discussions in the eum community, but not much has yet been said about the use of the Internet for development and fundraising. What is eanthropy and is it a viable fundraising solution for museums that will allow museums access to a larger range of donors, or is it a pie-in-the-sky idea? Moderator: Allyson Lazar, Principal, Orinda Group, LLC; Presenters: Amanda Fredrickson-Banks, pendent Museum Professional; James Leventhal, Director of Development & Marketing, Judah L. Magnes Museum; Stephanic eida, Membership Coordinator, Boise Art Museum.

Limitless Fundraising: Is E-Philanthropy a Tool for Reaching a World-Wide Range of Donors? Katmai Room, 2nd Floor

Successful Design Projects: How to Be an Excellent Exhibit Client King Salmon Room, 2nd

ou want to create innovative, forward-looking exhibits that help your institution thrive in the future? One important step lies in ning how to be an "excellent client." Design professionals in all fields report that one of the secrets to a successful design proje e client. What makes an excellent client? This panel presents case studies highlighting the exhibit design and fabrication proce m start to finish, from first spark to first visitor - from the perspective of exhibit designers and fabricators, with the focus on the ortant role of the exhibit client. Moderator: Redmond Barnett, Head of Exhibits, Washington State Historical Society; Presenters rles Davis, Partner, EDX: Edquist Davis Exhibits; Susan Fisher, Senior Accounts Director, H. B. Stubbs; David Jensen, Princip ensen and Associates, Ltd.

Political Forecasting: The Future for Museums Iliamna Room, 2nd Floor

uary 2009 brings the beginning of a new Congress, the inauguration of a new President, and the prospect of a reauthorization nstitute of Museum and Library Services (IMLS). Museum professionals have an opportunity to work with lawmakers and a ne inistration to propose changes to the law that establishes the purpose of IMLS and its programs and activities. In addition to a ate on plans for reauthorization and other museum-related policy issues at the federal level, panelists will offer practical advice at interacting with lawmakers to get your message heard. Moderator: Gail Ravnitzky Silberglied, Director of Government tions, American Association of Museums, and local elected officials invited.

EXHIBIT HALL BREAK

10:30 am - 11:00 am Alaska/Denali Rooms

CONCURRENT SESSIONS

00 am - 12:30 pm

New Ways of Being "Museum:" Redefining Boundaries with Libraries and Archives Dilling! Room, 2nd Floor

ural, economic, demographic, and technological forces of the new millennium challenge deep-seated museum traditions as aps never before. In order to transform challenges into opportunities, museums throughout North America are examining new tutional identities and adopting new business models. One such innovation involves the integration of museums, lipteries, and ives. This session explores the viability of such innovation for institutions large and small, public and private, new and old. erator: Gail Anderson, President, Gail Anderson & Associates; Presenters: Steven L. Olsen, Associate Managing Director, Chu ory Department, LDS Church; Phyllis Rabineau, Vice President for Interpretation & Education, Chicago History Museum; Paul erty, CEO, Royal British Columbia Museum.

Volunteers Without Limits - Will or Should Volunteers Do Anything & Everything? Katmai Room, 2nd Floor

re are always jobs about which volunteers are enthusiastic, but there also are those that nobody wants to do. Conversely, ther obs that, as staff, we might like to ask volunteers to do to save money and staff time, but cannot. How can we persuade nteers to do almost anything or, alternatively, insure they are protected or dissuaded from jobs not suited to them? Panelists w uss their experiences and methods to find volunteers' limits. Moderator: Rosalind Bedell, Human Resources and Volunteer ctor, Nevada Museum of Art; Presenters: Joyce E. Jensen, Director of Education, Naval Undersea Museum; Paula Rampe, ager of Volunteer Programs, Asian Art Museum.

Beyond Grass Shacks and Igloos: Infusing Museums with Authentic Native Perspectives King Salmon Room, 2nd Floor

r Native museum professionals from Hawai'i and Alaska will share their diverse experiences at an astronomy center, natural ory museum, cultural, and heritage center in developing programs that incorporate indigenous knowledge systems. Panelists v e their successes and challenges in meeting the needs of local communities and visitors by infusing programs with authentic ve perspectives that honor the host culture yet also establish meaning for broader audiences. Moderator: Noelle Kahanu, Proj ager, Bishop Museum; Presenters: Kathy Ahgeak, ECHO Project Manager, North Slope Borough; Ka'iulani Kimura, Associate ctor, Imiloa Astronomy Center; Eleanor Hadden, Assistant Curator of Collections and Exhibits, Alaska Native Heritage Center.

Security on a Shoestring Iliamna Room, 2nd Floor

urity is an issue that affects all public institutions. Objects, displays, buildings and grounds need protection as do staff and visit effective security system relies as much upon procedures and policies as it does on an alarm system. During this session, enters will discuss security issues and effective measures that will help your institution ensure that it is well protected from dalism and theft. Moderator: Jen McLerran, Director, Assistant Professor, Art History, Northern Arizona University Art Museum; senters: Wilbur Faulk, Executive Vice-President, Cultural Property Protection Group; Lisa Golisek, Museums Security and Visit rices Coordinator, Alaska State Museum.

Planned Giving For Everyone Birch/Willow Rooms, Lobby Level

ned giving is the fastest growing form of philanthropy and yet many institutions have not seized their opportunities. Institutions long-term donors, regardless of gift size, have planned giving prospects. With minimal preparation, museums can establish ba rams and lay the groundwork for a more sophisticated and active program to follow. This session will cover the establishment ram, popular vehicles, prospecting techniques, and trends in planned giving. Moderator: Joe Brennan, Director of Facilities, S icisco Museum of Modern Art; Presenters: Robert Glavin, President, Robert Glavin Inc./Professor, UC San Francisco; Joy Atro ura, Deputy Director of Advancement, Anchorage Museum at Rasmuson Center; Glen W. Bobo, Director, Wealth Management up, The Wilson Agency LLC, Steve Mahoney, Consultant, The Foraker Group.

AFFINITY GROUP LUNCHES

30 pm - 1:45 pm preregistration required

- Registrars Committee-Western Region Annual Business Meeting & Luncheon Chart Room, 15th Floor
- Curators, Exhibit Designers, Evaluators, & Educators Luncheon Aspen Room, Lobby Level
- sentation by the 2008 recipient of the WMA/ Charles Redd Award for Exhibition Excellence, Dawn Wellman, Assistant Curator, Agua Caliente Cultural Museum
 - Directors Forum Luncheon Spruce Room, Lobby Level
- Topics: Provacateurs seeded in the luncheon will briefly present current events and issues for open discussion.
- Museums Alaska Annual Business Meeting & Luncheon Fireweed Room, Lobby Level

EXHIBIT HALL CLOSING RECEPTION & SILENT AUCTION

0 pm - 2:30 pm Alaska/Denali Rooms

is your last chance to chat with our corporate partners! It is also your last chance to record a final bid on those fabulous aucti s that caught your eye! Winning bidders must be present to pay for and take away auction items. All proceeds go to the nda Chin Professional Development Fund.

CONCURRENT SESSIONS

) pm - 4:00 pm

Building and Renovation of Museums: Headaches and Blessings Panelists and audience member openly discuss their successes, challenges, and shared resources for building projects both big and small. Moderator: Marilyn es, Director, Suquamish Museum; Presenters: Beth Takegawa, Executive Director, Wing Luke Asian Museum; Michael Hammo cutive Director, Aqua Caliente Cultural Museum; Wanda Chin, Exhibition & Design Director, University of Alaska Museum of the h; Marilyn Wandry, Elder and Suquamish Foundation Board Member.

Breaking Through the Barrier: Perspectives on Institutional Audience Development Katm Room, 2nd Floor

eums are searching for ways to attract younger and more diverse audiences; however, expanding visitorship without alienating constituents or meeting resistance from within is often easier said than done. How do museums build new audiences - espect the efforts of individual staff may not be sufficient to create lasting change? Join a panel of speakers who will discuss their ence building projects that are making changes on an institutional level. Leave this session with a wider perspective as well as egies for breaking through to new visitors. Moderator: Lisa Sasaki, Associate Director, Education, Japanese American National eum; Presenters: Aimee Chang, Director, Academic & Residency Programs, The Armand Hammer Museum of Art; James enthal, Director of Development & Marketing, Judah L. Magnes Museum.

Living History, Alaska Style: How the Alaska Native Heritage Center Promotes Experient Learning King Salmon Room, 2nd Floor

Alaska Native Heritage Center focuses on programs, people, and the physical environment, as do "living history museums" in parts of the country, but its program contrasts with established institutions such as Plimouth Plantation in important ways. Centry are similarly enveloped in a "village" setting, but ANHC cultural interpreters maintain their own identities, rooted in both the ent and past. In addition, seasonal programs engage Alaskans of all ethnicities and extend institutional reach beyond indigence of the past of the programs traffic. Moderator: Patricia Partnow, Vice President of Cultural & Educational Services, Alaska ve Heritage Center; Presenters: Steven Alvarez, Director of Education and Strategic Initiatives, Alaska Native Heritage Center; programs, Alaska Native Heritage Center; Loren Anderson, Cultural Programs Manager, Alaska Nativatage Center.

The Well-Designed Visit: Keeping Visitors Comfortable, Happy, and Coming Back lliamna Room, 2nd Floor

useum visit should be pleasurable, both inherently and in support of learning - but can become painful without simple elements as seating, legible signage, and spaces to recharge and refresh. This panel will examine designs and attitudes that do and do promote visitor comfort, pleasure, and engagement through the lens of universal design. Universal design is the creation of ronments usable by all people, to the greatest extent possible, without adaptation or specialization. Moderator: Steve Tokar, er/Developer, Steve Tokar Productions; Presenters: Stephanie Weaver, Visitor Experience Consultant; Jon Betthauser, Execution Columbia Memorial Space Center, Downey; Beth Katz, Registered Nurse.

Museums and the Web Birch/Willow Rooms, Lobby Level

mportant means for museums to reach out to real, potential, and cyber visitors is through the web. The web is also a great sould formation about museum programs and exhibits. As important as this medium is, to use it properly requires skill and knowledge always found at a museum. This panel will present three different ways museums have used the web to improve and enhance activities. Moderator: Kerynn Fisher, University of Alaska Museum of the North; Presenters: Humberto Kam, Senior Manager ne Communications, Monterey Bay Aquarium; Judy Scotchmoor, Assistant Director, University of California Berkeley, Museum contology; Roger Topp, New Media Producer, University of Alaska Museum of the North.

Changing the World, One Partnership at a Time Lupine Room, Lobby Level eums can play a vital role in addressing critical issues for their communities and the planet, but they cannot do it alone. This sion provides two case studies of unconventional partnerships that are broadening museums' reach and promoting shared ronmental goals. One involves an urban natural history museum and a respected publisher; the other a community museum a tional park. Both offer lessons in how mission-driven collaborators can pool their expertise to vastly increase their audiences, act, and effectiveness. Moderator: Ellen Ferguson, Community Relations Director, Burke Museum of Natural History and Culture senters: Heather Beggs, Director, Pratt Museum; Helen Cherullo, Publisher, The Mountaineers Books; Mary McBurney, sistence Manager, Lake Clark National Park and Preserve; Erin Younger, Associate Director, Burke Museum.

riday

CONCURRENT SESSIONS

5 pm - 5:35 pm

Easy Start to Your Own Exhibit Evaluation Group Iliamna Room, 2nd Floor

In the easy steps to creating your own group for sharing and learning within your museum community. Evaluating exhibits from rent points of view of a variety of museum professionals consistently improves our methods. One such success in San Diego le from a very simple process to engage museum professionals from all levels. You will take away a concise sheet for a plan to the your local group so you can bring this valuable tool home. Facilitated by Megg Sohn of San Diego Exhibits & Evaluation up.

courtesy Alaska Native Heritage Center

Evening Event

EE3 ALASKA NATIVE HERITAGE CENTER

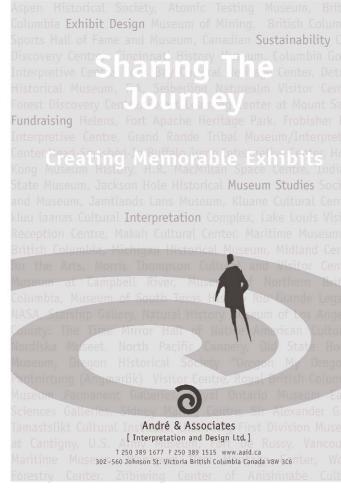

FRIDAY 9/1

6:30 pm - 9:30 pm

Motorcoaches depart from the 3rd Street entrance to the Hilton Anchorage. The Alaska Native Heritage Center is a premier cultural center sharing the rich herita of Alaska's 11 major cultural groups. The Heritage Center, located ten miles from downtown Anchorage, is situated on 26 wooded acres. More than just a museum due the summer months, the heritage center is transformed into a place where guests gethe chance to experience Alaska's Native peoples first hand. During the winter, the Heritage Center goes out to schools in the community where they educate children

It the diversity of Alaska's Native peoples. It is also a place where people have the opportunity to work with Alaska Native mass ts on projects such as skin sewing and ivory carving. Your evening at the center will include an Alaska seafood dinner as well nce performance by Imamsuat, a multi-generational group of piaq (Alutiiq) people from the Alaska and Lower Kenai insulas, Kodiak & Afognak Islands, and Prince William Sound. will have the opportunity to stroll through the Hall of Cultures re artifacts represent the 11 groups of Alaska Natives. In tion, several Alaska Native guides will be on hand to give you ar around the lake and to six village sites where you can go le dwellings and learn how each group of Alaska Natives of their lifestyle to Alaska's challenging climate. You will also be the opportunity to explore the Alaska Native Heritage Center Shop where you can find a wide selection of books relating to ka and Alaska Natives, as well as authentic Alaska Native art e by artists from across the state of Alaska.

Saturday

Saturda Scptember 20

ANNUAL MEETING REGISTRATION OF

Hilton Anchorage, Alaska Ballroom fo 8:30 am - 11:00

) am - 9:00 am

Museums Alaska Board Meeting Lupine Room, Lobby Level Open only to Museums Alaska Board of Directors and representatives

CONCURRENT SESSIONS

am - 10:30 am

Endowments: Building & Managing While Juggling Everything Else Dillingham Room, 2nd Florimer in the basics of endowment management, the perils and pitfalls associated with managing an endowment, and the plexities of dealing with your trustees, donors and auditors in regard to this important subject. Come explore the complexities aging your museum's endowment, with special attention given to endowments under $50 million. How do we go about investing endowments in a world where there are high investment return expectations, due diligence requirements, and increasingly plex financial instruments to understand? Is there a way to simplify things? Moderator: Alison Sowden, Vice President for incial Affairs, Huntington Library & Art Collections and Botanical Garden; Presenters: Ed Prohaska, CFO and Vice President of exprise Development, Monterey Bay Aquarium; Tom Woolley, Managing Director, Commonfund.

Borrowing and Lending: How the Revised Standard Facility Report Can Work for Your Institution Katmai Room, 2nd Floor

y museum staff find the prospect of completing or reviewing the Standard Facility Report to be a daunting task, but it is now a direment for most institutional borrowers and lenders. With regard to the 2008 revision, speakers will explain the report's portance, walk you through its changes and additions, highlight what to look for from a borrower and lender's perspective, and of stic insurance, facility, and environmental recommendations for your institution. Moderator: Christina Kelly Schwartz, Head istrar, Smithsonian Institution Traveling Exhibition Service; Jeff Minett, Vice President, Henderson Phillips Fine Arts Insurance; Cronenberger, Historical Architect, National Park Service; Holly Young, Pueblo Grande Museum.

Native Definitions: Sustaining Heritage Through IMLS King Salmon Room, 2nd Floor IMLS Native American/Native Hawaiian Museum Services program promotes enhanced learning and innovation within tribal eums and related organizations. This session highlights projects funded by the grant program and shows how tribes have eloped and implemented exemplary methods of cultural preservation to sustain cultural knowledge. Join tribal representatives a present details about their projects in the areas of language preservation, public programming, and art. Moderators: Angela Jer, Curator, Wanapum Heritage Center; Sandra Narva, Senior Program Officer, IMLS; Presenters: Silis-chi-tawn Jackson, Curator, Tribal Museum; Mary Beth Moss, Curator, Hoonah Indian Association; Victoria Takamine, Project Director, PA'l Foundation.

Toxic Exhibitions Iliamna Room, 2nd Floor

ne art is distinctly unhealthy and threatening. By its material content, inherent nature, or its effect on life and the environment, are art presents an extraordinary challenge to an institution wanting to display it. This session will address examples of challeng ressfully overcome in a number of institutions. Examples of this phenomenon include the large lead pieces by Anslem Keiffer, lier Ants in a state in which they are banned, formaldehyde preserved works of art and whale skulls. Our knowledgeable panel cribe their solutions to unique challenges curators have placed at their feet. Moderator: Joe Brennan, Director of Facilities, Sar acisco Museum of Modern Art; Presenters: Dean Weldon, President & CEO, Academy Studios; Bob Banghart, Curator of bitions, Alaska State Museums.

CONCURRENT SESSIONS

15 am - 12:15 pm

The Way We Genuinely Live - New Experiences in Exhibit-Making Dillingham Room, 2nd Floor inning in 2003, a team of Yup'ik Eskimo elders and educators worked with anthropologists, scientists, and museum profession reate Yuungnaqpiallerput, The Way We Genuinely Live. A unique marriage of art, science and ethnography, this artifact-rich bition incorporates hands-on science. At its core is the recognition that the Yup'ik way of life - past and present - is grounded in a spiritual values and in scientific principles. This innovative approach to creating an exhibition evolved in response to the ressed needs of the people whose science it represents. Our panel will describe this exciting and rewarding exhibit-making ress. Yuungnaqpiallerput is also the featured exhibit for the Exhibition Critque (session I1). Moderator: Suzi Jones, Deputy Directorgrams, Anchorage Museum; Presenters: Ann Fienup-Riordan, Exhibition Curator, Calista Elders Council; Marie Meade, Yup er and Professor, University of Alaska, Anchorage; Alice Rearden, Yup'ik translator and transcriber, Calista Elders Council.

When Disaster Strikes Twice or the Importance of a Disaster Plan Katmai Room, 2nd Floor ting strikes twice; Southern California's wildfire disasters have challenged museums, zoos, and historical sites twice in four year do disasters change preparedness and staff approaches; what was implemented in California and Alaska? Participants hear a study from a California institution and a conservator, and an Alaska conservator and disaster consultant. Learn the basics and ties of a disaster preparedness plan and actual experiences in prevention, preparation, response, and recovery activities. erator: Cheryl Hinton, Museum Director/Chief Curator, Barona Cultural Center & Museum; Presenters: Alexandra Harris, lications Editor, Smithsonian Institution National Museum of the American Indian; Kara West, Assistant Director of rations/Field Services, Balboa Art Conservation Center, Scott Carrlee, Curator of Museum Services, Alaska State Museum.

Forensic Curation: New Stories from Old Collections King Salmon Room, 2nd Floor y museums have "mystery objects" of unknown identity or with limited provenance that have great potential for research and pretation. Whether motivated by legal proceedings, repatriation requests, outside researchers, or just plain curiosity, museums employ research methods, new and old, to rescue these objects from obscurity. This session, presented by veteran museum archers, will feature a discussion on methods and findings using examples drawn from several ethnographic and historical actions. Moderator: Steve Henrikson, Curator of Collections, Alaska State Museum; Presenters: R. Eric Hollinger, Case Officer, atriation Program, National Museum of Natural History, Smithsonian Institution; Terrence Loychuk, Private Researcher and Texector; Elaine Humphrey, Past President, Microscopy Society of Canada; Chris Dudar, Repatriation Osteology Laboratory Directonal Museum of Natural History, Smithsonian Institution; Stephen Ousley, Assistant Professor, Dept. of Anthropology/Archaeology t of us are governed by a board. As nonprofits, we are required to have board governance. For those governed by a municipal ther political entity, an appointed advisory board or commission fulfills a public accountability role. How do we optimize the lation of this group of people? Philosophies vary from institution to institution as to what defines a good board. The trend in be stice has been moving toward smaller, more agile boards. Who should you include on your ideal board, especially if it's smaller ple with content expertise, people with deep pockets, community leaders, or legal council? The panel will look at issues in essing your current board, developing a prospect list, working out the optimal mix of expertise, and board recruitment. Moderate the Eldredge, Executive Director, Buffalo Bill Historical Center; Presenters: Melissa Rosengard, Board Chair, Bently School; Jim Creight, President, Museum Trustee Association; Donald Luria, Past Board President, Tucson Museum of Art/ Board Member, eum Trustee Association.

Optimizing Your Board Iliamna Room, 2nd Floor

CONCURRENT SESSIONS

5 pm - 3:15 pm

cyhurst College.

Exhibit Critique: Challenges When Exhibit-Making Dillingham Room, 2nd Floor

perennially popular session investigates current best practices and choices made in creating exhibitions. This year presenters mine and critique Yuungnaqpiallerput (The Way We Genuinely Live): Masterworks of Yup'ik Science and Survival at the horage Museum at Rasmuson Center. Yup'ik elders and educators helped guide its development; the National Science and ation funded it. Three museum professionals bring their experience to bear in dialogue with the exhibit team and the audienterator: Redmond J. Barnett, Head of Exhibits, Washington State Historical Society; Karen K. Kosasa, Director, Museum Studied duate Certificate Program, University of Hawai'i at Manoa, Department of American Studies; Marilyn Jones, Director, Suquamis eum; Noel Ratch, Department Head, Curatorial Services, Reynolds-Alberta Museum; Ann Fienup-Riordan, Anthropologist/Exhator, Calista Elders Council and Anchorage Museum; Alice Rearden, Transcriber/Translator, Calista Elders Council; Suzi Jones uty Director of Programs, Anchorage Museum.

Connecting to the Old with the New Katmai Room, 2nd Floor

2005 the Juneau-Douglas City Museum undertook a multi-year endeavor to interpret one of Juneau's most defining and roversial achievements; establishing Juneau as Alaska's Capital City. The presenters will explore the process that they used to glife and engagement to civic history. They will discuss the importance of each phase of the project with particular emphasis of inal phase; the collaboration with local middle school students to use digital storytelling and interactive technology to interpret bit in a dynamic and compelling way. Benefit from hearing about the learning curves encountered and the successes achieved hall museum undertaking their first interactive exhibit of this type. Moderator: Alysia McLain, Curator of Public Programs, Junea glas City Museum; Presenter: Jane Lindsey, Director, Juneau-Douglas City Museum.

Consultants Help Define the Future King Salmon Room, 2nd Floor

e future of the museum employee setting up a free lance business? Many people who move to consulting are then returning to tutions to assist with missions, goals or helping with a specific project. This session will present how the museum professional es this change and the paths that lead from employment at an institution to independent status, the pros and cons of consulting the challenges faced by museums and consultants as they work to help each other reach the desired results. Moderator: Ted emberg, Museum Consultant, Collection Management and Registration Specialist; Gail Anderson, President, Gail Anderson & ociates; Cory Gooch, World Class Registrar.

nd honoring our traditional end of Annual Meeting unique beriences, you won t want to miss...

MUSEUM SHUTTLE TOUR

egistration required

) pm - 6:00 pm Motorcoaches depart from the 3rd Street entrance to the Hilton Anchorage; they will circulate among the ven ka's rich culture has generated numerous smaller museums that focus on specific subject areas. This late afternoon tour lets you some of these special collections. Buses will shuttle between the following locations to transport folks around town to experier e of the smaller venues that could not host all attendees for an evening event. Around 6:00 pm, the bus shuttle will begin leave the Hilton for the Evening Event (EE4) at the Alaska Heritage Museum.

Imaginarium Alaska's only hands-on Science Discovery Center, the Imaginarium is designed as a place where people can hearning about science by actually doing science. It resembles a living laboratory, where you can stand inside a bubble, ponde magnitude of the universe in a planetarium, discover ocean life in a marine touch tank, observe and touch exotic reptiles, or leprinciples of physics while playing with specialized toys.

ska Museum of Natural History The museum's 10,000 holdings include collections of Alaskan anthropological, biological, ogical, historical, artistic, and educational significance. On permanent display, the 4 Alaskan wildlife dioramas, numerous mouraskan birds and mammals, and skeletal examples of moose highlight Alaska biological diversity. The museum's geological erials include minerals, vertebrate and invertebrate fossils and a hadosaur skeleton cast. The anthropological collections included acts from specific sites in the state, most notably the "Broken Mammoth" site.

sian Orthodox Museum The Museum features artifacts dating from 18th century Russian America, now Alaska. Among the cts on display are recently restored processional banners possibly dating to 1794, rare icons believed to have been painted in a school of iconography in the 1800s, personal objects of St. Innocent (Veniaminov), a kayak frame used by missionaries traveg the Nushagak River, and beaded priest's vestments designed and sewn by the Tlingit artist, Emma Marks.

ar Anderson House City butcher Oscar Anderson built Anchorage's first permanent frame house in 1915 at a time when horage was a tent city. In those small-town days, Anderson found success in the meat, coal, and aviation businesses. He died 1, and the house contains many of the family's original belongings, including a working 1909 player piano around which the cture was built. It is the only house museum in Anchorage.

ska Law Enforcement Museum Also called the Alaska Trooper Museum, the permanent exhibit includes historic Trooper brms, a restored 1952 Hudson Hornet used as a law enforcement vehicle, and a display about Alaska's first serial killer in the 1900's. Antique radios, communications devices, handcuffs and leg irons are just a portion of the display of tools available to brocement in the early days in Alaska. These artifacts provide a fascinating picture in comparison to today's technology.

Evening Event

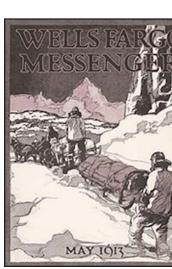

Alaska Heritage Museum at Wells Fargo

) pm - 8:30 pm

proceaches depart from the 3rd Street entrance to the Hilton Anchorage; buffet meal, & drink et. Cash bar also available.

aplete your Alaska conference experience and enjoy another opportunity for networking with a ption at the Alaska Heritage Museum. With over 900 artifacts on display, the Alaska Heritage eum is one of the largest private collections in the State. Originally assembled by the National k of Alaska, the collection includes items from several major Alaska Native cultures: St. rence Yupik, Inupiaq, Athabascan, Alutiiq, Aleut/Unganun, and Tlingit. The artifacts on display light cultural practices such as hunting and fishing, processing game animals, celebrating ural activities, and more. The permanent exhibit also includes examples of traditional Native hing, a full-size Bering Sea kayak, an outstanding collection of paintings by Alaskan artists, a 46 troy ounce gold nugget.

SATURDAY SEPTEMBER 2

Courtesy Alaska Heritage Museum Wells Fargo

r photos, top to bottom: Dennis Zaki, Alaska-in-Pictures, and Robert Olsen. Inside cover photo ANHC/ Clark Mishler. Back cover: Courtesy, Catamaran Resort Hot Spa. Page 7 photo of Sarah Kennington: Mimi Haddon, courtesy of the Getty Foundation.

Western Museums Association 2008 Annual Meeting

San Diego, California October 25-29, 2008

all for Session and Workshop Proposals eadline for submissions: October 31, 2008